

The Powers Of The Earth

powers

final_showdown

31 1 2

Chapter 1 by Story Wars

"Ow! That hurt!" Kayla yelled at me as I zapped her with my lasers.

"Sorry!" I said.

"Cass, you need to be more careful. I'm not immune to fire and lasers like you are. I mean, if you wanna spray someone with water, I'm your girl; but otherwise, calm down."

We were walking on the top of Mt. Everest practicing for the Final Showdown, a battle against the powers of the Earth. Of course Kayla and I wouldn't be against each other, we're not in the same division. She's in the 13 year old division and I'm in the 12 year old division. She's not that much older than me, just I was born in February and she was born in December.

My parents both had fire powers, and I do too. Kayla's parents had fire powers too, but she was adopted when she was, like, 2. She doesn't even remember her biological parents.

The Final Showdown was in 2 weeks, February 2nd. So our parents were pressuring us to practice, practice, practice. It gets annoying after a while, but I want my parents approval, so it's worth it.

Chapter 2 by diamondtreble

When I was younger, my mother always told me that I was everything in my family. That without me our family would not hold up. I was the only one who could stand up for myself and my friends. To be strong, powerful and to not let anyone mess with me. I don't think I've shown her

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account

I always try way harder at things than I need to. Like, I took a test when I was younger, not a paper or electronic test, one where they make you go through a maze, make you escape fire, water, wind, and earth elements, and they put special dreams in my head. Four dreams. Each about fire, water, wind, and earth. They see whatever power you have by looking at which dream you feel normal, or understand more. I understood fire, and then they "Spark" my powers. Which basically means that they make my powers actually work.

You already have powers in you. Everyone does, even the people not living in PowerTopia, my city. You just have to take the test and then they "Spark" your powers.

Some people don't get their powers Sparked. My cousin, Torane, didn't get her powers Sparked because she didn't fit in to any of the elements in the test. She became leader of the Division for 15 year olds.

Her friend, Layla, didn't fit in either. But, unlike Torane, she was not worthy to become a leader either. So, she became the assistant leader to Torane. I've heard that this one guy, Cleston, wasn't worthy of being a leader, he didn't get his powers Sparked, and he had been really bad, so they just simply killed him. His parents didn't mind, which was CRAZY! What stupid, horrible, brat parents "don't mind" if their son GETS KILLED?! I mean, seriously!

My point is, I tried too hard on that test. Sometimes I wonder if I was supposed to get wind or water. I know I'm not supposed to get earth because no one in my family has gotten earth in 2 million years. I just wanted to be like my parents, having fire powers.

Write a draft for chapter 3 of 8

 You need to login before writing - click here

Continue the story

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account

Give feedback

Write a comment...

About

Rooms

Feedback

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account